PREFACE

The work that we present here is part of the initial stages in the research commitment of The Institute for the Study of Ethnic and Religious Groups at Bar-Ilan University. The Institute was established in 1971 for the advancement of research in the areas of ethnic and religious sub-cultures.

Since then, the Institute has been engaged in a number of projects, such as: the study on the Neturei Karta in Jerusalem; a comparative analysis of social mobility among Iraqi and Moroccan Jews; the Yemenite community of Rosh HaAyin; the integration of Libyan Jews into Israeli society; reactions to prejudice experienced by Iraqi and Moroccan Jews; the social effects of terrorism on northern border towns and settlements; the influence of religion on soldiers wounded in the Yom Kippur War; and Arab-Israeli relations.

We wish to express our gratitude to: Bar-Ilan University for maintaining the Institute; to the Research Authority of the University for funding several of the above studies; to The Memorial Foundation for Jewish Culture, New York, for supporting the studies of Iraqi and Moroccan Jews; and to Mr. Axel Springer of West Germany for his continued interest in our work and support for our research facilities in the Old City of Jerusalem.

We are greatly indebted to those who have helped in the work of the Institute and the preparation of the manuscript. Special thanks are due to: Mr. Moshe Dayan, M.K., Professor Bernard Lazerwitz, Dr. Maurice M. Roumani, David Meir, David Altman, Shabtai Lobel, Yocheved Rosen, Sara Nussbaum, Elysheva Fadlun, Iris Cordova-Klein, Edith Elchanani, Ruth Bar-Ilan and Hilda Mizrahi – without whose kind cooperation our work would not have been possible.

S.P. and E.K.
