

CONTENTS

| | |
|--|-----------|
| Preface | 9 |
| Introduction | 11 |
| A. Opening 11; B. Periodization of Jaspers' Work 14; C. Philosophical Framework 17; D. Philosophical Method 19; E. Philosophical Experience of Boundary 22; F. Methodological Approach 25; G. Structure 29 | |
| Section One Explication of Selfhood | |
| Chapter 1: Selfhood from the Perspective of Mental Illness | 35 |
| A. Note on the Framework 35; B. Mental Illness as an Expression of the Individual's World 36; C. Critique of Psychopathology? 39; D. The Primacy and Centrality of Subjectivity 45; E. The Idea of Man as a Whole 53 | |
| Chapter 2: The Selfhood of Worldviews | 58 |
| A. From Pathology to Normalcy 58; B. The Worldview 59; C. Jaspers' Method in Psychology 62; D. The Metaphysical Elements of Worldviews 70 | |
| Chapter 3: Selfhood and the World | 79 |
| A. From Subjectivity to Existenz 79; B. The Reality of the World as an Element in Explicating Selfhood 82; C. The World as Reality and the Question of Consciousness 90 | |
| Chapter 4: Selfhood in its Own Eyes | 96 |
| A. Returning to Existenz 96; B. The Disconnection of Existenz from the World 98; C. Returning Existenz into the | |

World 104; D. Freedom as Will 107; E. The Tension
Between Objectivity and Subjectivity 111

Section Two Transition Mechanisms

| | |
|--|------------|
| Introduction: Mechanisms of Transition from an Explication of Selfhood to an Explication of Being | 119 |
| Chapter 5: Communication | 124 |
| A. Existenz Confronting another Existenz 124; B. Existent- ial Communication 125; C. Communication as a Means for Establishing the Selfhood of Existenz 128; D. Communica- tion as a Transition Mechanism 136 | |
| Chapter 6: Historicity | 142 |
| A. From Orientation in the World and Communication to Historicity 142; B. Between Historicism and Historicity 143; C. Historicity as a Means for Elucidation of Existenz 145; D. Transcendence in Historicity 151 | |
| Chapter 7: Boundary Situations | 155 |
| A. Expansion of the Limits of Existenz from “Situational Being” to Boundary Situations 155; B. Boundary Situations in Psychology 156; C. Boundary Situations in Psychology 163; D. Boundary Situations as a Transition Mechanism Compared with Communication and Historicity 171 | |
| Transition Mechanisms: A Concluding Overview | 176 |
| A. Three Forms of Otherness 176; B. Absolute Conscio- ness 178 | |

Section Three
Transition Mechanisms for the Explication of Being

| | |
|---|------------|
| Chapter 8: ‘Foundering’ | 187 |
| A. Existenz toward Transcendence 187; B. “Foundering” as a Philosophical Concept 192; C. The Freedom of Existenz and Foundering 197; D. Foundering as a Cipher 201 | |
| Chapter 9: Being as Encompassing | 203 |
| A. Encompassing between two Perspectives: Epistemological and Ontological 205; B. The Two Sides of Being as Encompassing: Immanent and Transcendent 225; C. Pre-ontology 240 | |
| Chapter 10: The Ciphers of Transcendence | 245 |
| A. From Foundering and Encompassing to the Concept of Cipher 245; B. Foreshadowing Aspects of the Concept of Cipher Psychology 248; C. Immanence as a Cipher of Transcendence 252; D. The Concept of Cipher and Consciousness 260; E. Metaphysical Consciousness as a Language 266; F. The Concept of Cipher as a Bridge between Elucidation of Selfhood and Explication of Being 276 | |
| Chapter 11: Between “Being” and “Transcendence” | 282 |
| A. “Being” and “Transcendence” 282; B. The Concept of Transcendence in Light of Literature 284; C. Facing Contradiction 293 | |
| Conclusion | 296 |
| Bibliography and Abbreviations | 301 |
| Indices | 321 |
| A. Names 321; B. Subjects 325 | |