

CONTENTS

Foreword	7
Introduction	11
Chapter I: The Relationship of Habad Philosophers to Maimonides and his Doctrines	15
Maimonides' General Knowledge 17; Maimonides as Philosopher 22; The Guide of the Perplexed 26; Maimonides as a Kabbalist 31; R. Menachem Mendel Schneerson and Maimonides 31; Mishneh Torah and ReMaM's Thought 39; The Regulation to Study Maimonides 42; Harmony between Exoteric Torah and Esoteric Torah 44; Summary 45
Chapter II: Maimonidean Hasidic Theology	47
The Theory of Attributes 47; The Negation of Corporeality 51; The Unity of God 53; The Developmental Concept of Faith in ReMaM's Thought 55; Limiting the Idea of Acosmism 56; Idolatry 59; The Doctrine of Creation 63; Creation ex nihilo 63; Continual Creation and Divine Immanation 65; The Doctrine of Zimzum 68; Summary 69
Chapter III: Zemakh Zedek and his Book of Inquiry	71
Maimonides' Cosmological Proof for the Existence of God 72; Comparison of Maimonides and Rav Sa'adya Gaon 73; Proof for the Existence of God as an Introduction to Proof of Creation of the World 74; Removal of the Idea of Eternity of the World from Maimonides' Thought 75; Attribution of the Concept of Continual Creation to Maimonides 76; Proof from the Composition 77; Proof from Accidents 77; Proof from Time 79; The Teleological Proof 80; Miracles as Proof for the Creation of the World ex nihilo 81; Summary 85

Chapter IV: Phases in the Development of R. Menachem Mendel Schneerson's Approach to Maimonidean Doctrines	88
Maimonides as a Kabbalist 88; ReMaM's Attitude towards The Guide of the Perplexed 91; Divine Impossibilities 94; Divine Providence 98; The Rational for the Commandments 101; Resurrection 106; Summary 109
Chapter V: ReMaM's Exegesis to the Mishneh Torah	111
The Structure of the Mishneh Torah 111; The Commandment of Knowing God 118; Knowing God and the Study of Halakhah 124; Loving God 126; Prophecy 131; Moshe's Prophecy 134; Imitatio Dei Asceticism 138; Prayer 146; Kavanah in Prayer 150; Prayer to Sefirot and Midot 152; Autonomy and Heteronomy 153; Natural Law 159; The Singularity of the Jewish People 162; Israel and the Nations of the World: Mutual Relations 167; Summary 170
Chapter VI: ReMaM's Maimonidean Hasidic Messianism	173
Messianism in the Doctrines of Habad 173; ReMaM's Interpretation of Maimonidean Messianism 178; Messianism as a Principle of Faith 178; Messianic Orientation 183; Miraculous Redemption and Natural Redemption 184; Non-requirement of Evidence for the Messiah - Activistic Messianism 191; The Anthropological Model and the Status of Halakha in the Messianic Age 197; Knowledge of God in the Messianic Age 198; Knowledge of Divine Identity 199; Universal Knowledge of God 201; Summary 202
Epilogue	204
Bibliography	207
Indices	225
Names Index	225
Subject Index	230