

CONTENTS

Introduction	9
Chapter One: Prayer and Hebrew Literature	17
Chapter Two: “The Death of God” and the Possibility of Prayer	32
Chapter Three: Prayer as Primary Datum	83
Chapter Four: Prayer without Addressee: Between Self-Reflection and Ontological Event	98
Chapter Five: Prayer as a Way of Coping with the Addressee Problem	126
Chapter Six: Prayer after “The Death of God” as a Reconstruction of the Moment of God’s Death	142
Chapter Seven: Humans as Praying Entities: A Phenomenological Outline	170
Bibliography	197
Index	215