

CONTENTS

Dov Schwartz and Ronit Irshai
Opening Remarks	7

Tamar Ross: Thought and Practice

Ronit Irshai
Epistemology, Theology and Religious Feminism: The Intellectual Journey of Tamar Ross	11
Avinoam Rosenak
On the Relationship Between the Researcher and the Research: Theory and Praxis	41

Hasidism and the Philosophy of Rabbi Kook

Tsippi Kauffman
Hasidic Performance: Establishing a Religious (non)Identity in the Tales about Rabbi Zusha of Annopol	69
Benjamin Brown
‘But No Buts’: The Theological Debate Between the Hasidim and the Mitnagdim in Light of the Discourse-Markers Theory	93
Dov Schwartz
From “Ein Sof” to the “Light of Ein Sof” in Rabbi Kook’s Thought	119

Theology, Halacha and Gender

Avi Sagi and Nir Sagi
Protesting against God as a Religious Phenomenon	167

Vered and Shraga Bar On
Tamar Ross's Theology: Between Apologetics and Critical Theory	217
Tova Cohen
‘As long as I live, I shall remember the law of Moses’: Rachel Morpurgo (1790-1871) as a Scholar	245
Margalit Shilo
A Woman's Absorption Process as an Empowering Process: The Life Story of Saida Bint, a Yemenite Girl	275
Ronit Irshai
Dignity, Honor, and Equality in Contemporary Halachic Thinking: The Case of Torah Reading by Women in Israeli Modern Orthodoxy	301
Adam Ferziger
Feminism, Heresy, and the Boundaries of American Orthodox Judaism	327
Sylvia Barack Fishman
Apprentice Jews: Social Jewishness and Conversion in Jewish Literature and Contemporary American Jewish Life	9*
Miriam Feldmann Kaye
Playing the Language Game: The Meaning of Religious Language in the Theology of Tamar Ross	25*
Yehuda Gellman
Liberalism, Communitarianism, and Orthodox Jewish Feminism	59*
Moshe Idel
Some Observations on Gender Theories in Hasidism	83*