

CONTENTS

Foreword to the Third Edition	11
Foreword to the Second Edition	11
Foreword to the First Edition	14
Table of Sigla and Symbols	16
Introduction
Rabbi Abraham Ibn Ezra and his Era	17
The Book The Foundation of Reverence and the Secret of the Torah	18
Publication History of Yesod Mora	19
Earlier Commentaries on Yesod Mora	20
Features of the Present Edition	21
Selection of the Most Reliable MSS	22
Description of the Five MSS Included in the Apparatus	25
Editorial Procedures of the Present Edition	27
The Genre and Sources of Yesod Mora	28
The Content of Yesod Mora	30
a. Four Types of Jewish Scholars	30
b. Enumeration of the Commandments	34
c. Classification of the Commandments	38
d. The Five Types of Commandments	39
e. The Source of Validity of the Different Types of Commandments	41
f. The Object of the Commandments	43
g. The Rationale of the Commandments	44
h. The Commandment to Study the Torah – Extent and Object	54
i. Cleaving unto God	55
j. The Secret of the Tetragrammaton	56
k. The Secret of Creation	60
l. The Secret of Man	61
The Foundation of Reverence and the Secret of the Torah
Two Prefatory Poems	65
Preface	66
Chapter I: The True Jewish Intellectual	68
a. The Masoretes	68
b. The Grammarians	70
c. The Karaite Bible Scholars	72
d. The Talmudic Scholars	79

Table of Contents

e.	Additional Sciences Required for a Comprehensive Knowledge	81
f.	Additional Talmudic and Biblical Statements which can Only be Understood in Light of the Sciences	83
g.	Scholars of the Halakha and Scholars of the Aggadah	85
h.	Students of the Talmud for their Own Benefit	87
i.	Knowledge of God as the Final Object of Comprehensive Study	88
Chapter II:	A Critique of the Traditional Number of the Commandments	94
a.	The Classification Must be Based on Logic	94
b.	The Science of Logic Helps Solving Exegetical Problems	96
c.	The Inconsistency of the Traditional Enumeration of the Commandments	97
d.	The Individual Enumeration of the Commandments and the Number 613 are Unjustified	98
e.	The Author's Apology	99
f.	General Commandments	100
g.	Temporary Commandments	101
h.	Commandments Given to the Leaders	103
i.	The Inconsistency of the Enumerators of the Commandments Concerning General Commandments and Their Particulars	104
j.	Changing Commandments	106
k.	Alternative Ways of Classifying the Prohibitions Against Forbidden Sexual Relations	107
l.	Commandments Contingent on Voluntary Actions	108
m.	Rationales Mentioned in the Torah which have been Enumerated as Separate Commandments	111
n.	Voluntary Actions which have been Enumerated as Commandments	112
o.	An Additional Inconsistency: Increasing the Number of Biblical Commandments and Ignoring those Handed Over Orally	113
p.	Two Texts with the Same Meaning Have Been Enumerated as Two Commandments	114
Chapter III:	Proper Classification of the Commandments	116
a.	Principles and Restrictions	116
b.	Light and Severe Commandments	118
c.	A General Commandment Punishable with Kareth – Breaking the Commandments Even Secretly	119

Table of Contents

Chapter IV: Conditional and Absolute Commandments	122
a. Types of Dependence	122
b. Additional Types of Dependence	122
c. Dependence on Time	124
Chapter V: Principal Commandments and Secondary Ones	127
a. The Principals	127
b. The Secondary Commandments	129
c. Why is it a Commandment to Recall what Happened to Jacob ?	130
Chapter VI: The Revelatory Sources of the Commandments – The Written and the Oral Law	133
a. The Three-Fold Classification According to the Source of the Commandments	133
b. Examples of Commandments of the Second and Third Types	134
Chapter VII: How the Commandments Mend the Heart	138
a. The Division Between Positive and Negative Commandments is not Based on the Distinction Between Doing and Non-Doing	138
b. The Three-Fold Division of the Commandments According to the Ways of Execution: Thought, Speech, or Deed	139
c. The Difference Between Positive and Negative Commandments From the Viewpoint of Effort and Reward	140
d. Does Free Will Exist?	143
e. The Way Free Will is Executed – The Interdependence of the Physical and Mental Powers	144
f. The Benefit Derived From Keeping the Commandments – Escaping the Decrees of the Stars	145
g. The General Object of the Commandments – To Mend the Heart	148
h. Examples of Commandments Fulfilled in the Mind	150
i. Examples of Commandments Fulfilled Through Speech	151
j. The Three Degrees in the Service of God	152
k. The Torah was Given to People of Understanding	156
Chapter VIII: Commandments whose Rationale is Specified in the Torah	158
a. There is no Commandment Without a Rationale	158
b. Commandments Whose Rationale is Specified	159
Chapter IX: Commandments Whose Reasons are not Specified in the Torah	165
a. Clarifying the Hidden Reasons (With Special Attention to Commandments Connected to Time and Number)	165
b. Clarifying the Hidden Reasons (Continuation)	169

Table of Contents

c. Deciphering the Hidden Aspects of the Sanctuary and its Vessels	171
Chapter X: A Life of Holiness	176
a. The Commandment of Constantly Contemplating God's Torah	176
b. The Purpose of Life – Closeness to God in This and in the Next World	178
c. The Essence of Becoming Holy – Abstention From Bodily and Material Desires	180
Chapter XI: The Secret of the Divine Name	183
a. The Five Origins of the Letters	183
b. The Root Letters and the Formative Letters	184
c. The Ease of Pronouncing the Formative Letters	185
d. The Order of the Letters	186
e. The Linguistic Qualities of the Letters אהו"י	188
f. The Numerical Qualities of the Letters אהו"י	189
g. The Forms of the Letters אהו"י, Their Names, and Their Funcion as Formative Letters	190
h. Additional Cosmological and Numerical Qualities of the Letters אהו"י	193
i. Geometric Qualities of the Numbers 10 (י) and 15 (י"ה)	196
Chapter XII: Cleaving unto God	202
a. The Hierarchic Structure of the Three Worlds and the Dependence of the Lower on the Upper	202
b. Distinctions Between the Two Names of God – 'Elohim' and the Tetragrammaton	207
c. The Essence of the Connection Between God and Creation	210
d. Cleaving unto God as the Ideal Way of Life for a Jew	212
Epilogue: The Polemical Aspect of Yesod Mora	216
Indexes
Bibliographic Index	235
Index of Biblical and Talmudic References	249
Index of Names	268
Index of Content	272